It was a very good year

Think learning about wine is daunting? Think again. While some wines indeed demand top dollars and bring critics to their knees, most are considerably less complicated and easy to understand, not to mention enjoy. The first and best step in the process is to just relax. Accept that most of us who enjoy raising a glass periodically do so because, well, we like the beverage, plain and simple. From there, exploring the nuances of a Pinot Noir or Chardonnay is neither difficult nor expensive, and can prove rewarding for the palate and soul.

"I want to educate our guests and make them feel more comfortable about wine," says Jaques Van Staden, VP of Culinary Operations for Celebrity Cruises. A good starting point is having a knowledgeable service staff like the folks lined up by Staden and Celebrity. There's no snobbery here, just a friendly attitude across the board. The ships' well trained sommeliers and culinary teams stand ready to explain facts, answer questions and guide diners along the way.

It also helps that Van Staden and his team come equipped with such an extraordinary wine cellar. Celebrity's Wine Program features a rich collection ranging up to 450 selections fleetwide—from France and Italy to South America and the Napa and Sonoma Valleys, even South African and Australia—granting diners pretty good odds that they can land the right match for any on-board meal. Another delightful addition while at sea: Celebrity's Cellarmaster Private Label, a limited edition wine collection created exclusively by Kendall Jackson Estates and Celebrity Collector's Edition Artist Label Series that pairs the artist and the winemaker for truly unique works of art.

Shore Excursions

Make the most of your time in Bermuda.

Here are a few suggestions.

- Devil's Isle Cruise Beach Snorkel: Join a coastal sightseeing cruise around the many islands once known as the Devil's Isles. Swim at the beach, snorkel or kayak the nearby reefs, or just relax onboard.
- Bermuda Triangle Nightlife Glassbottom Cruise: Try this fully narrated evening cruise into the notorious Bermuda Triangle. Enjoy illuminated glass bottom views of various marine life and a shipwreck at night.

Visit the Shore Excursions Desk on Deck 3 to book your tour.
